The Family and Youth Services Bureau will soon release new Adolescent Pregnancy Prevention Program Sexual Risk Avoidance Education (SRAE) grants. Are you working with a research team that has the right qualifications and experience to evaluate your program?

Philliber takes a flexible and collaborative approach to evaluation.

We offer:

- Free evaluation proposal writing
- Institutional Review Board (IRB) submission
- SRAE performance measure tracking and report submission
- Personalized evaluation training and monitoring
- Virtual and in-person data collection processes

Our recent teen pregnancy evaluations have been published in:

- The Journal of Adolescent Health
- Health Education Research
- The American Journal of Sexuality Education

30 Years of Experience

We have evaluated Teen Pregnancy Prevention programs for 30 years, using a variety of research methods including Randomized Controlled Trials (RCTs).

Experience with Federal Teen Pregnancy Projects

We currently evaluate 3 SRAE grants using Love Notes and have evaluated 14 TPP projects for the Office of Population Affairs within the last 10 years.

Federal Teen Pregnancy Evaluation in 24 States

We have evaluated programs in: AK, CA, CT, HI, IA, ID, IL, IN, KS, MA, MD, MI, MN, MS, MT, NC, NE, NY, OR, TX, UT, VA, WA and WI.
